Cynthia Work
AT-CTI Program Lead
Air Traffic Controller Training and Development Division
Federal Aviation Administration

Dear Ms. Work:

I am writing to express my strong support for Aims Community College's application for the Federal Aviation Administration's Air Traffic Control Collegiate Training Initiative (AT-CTI) Program.

Aims Community College is a top-notch educational institution with an established aviation program that is poised to grow immensely over the next decade. Because it is close to both Denver International Airport and Greeley/Weld County Airport, Aims is strategically located in the transportation hub of Colorado. Additionally, its location in Greeley, one of the most diverse cities in Colorado, enables the college to reach out to minority students who are looking for educational opportunities close to home.

The FAA would do well to include Aims Community College in the AT-CTI program, and I urge you to favorably consider Aims' application.

Sincerely,

Ken Salazar
